

«Smart Contracts/Blockchain»

March 28th, 2019

HütteleLAW AG

Alte Steinhauserstrasse 1, 6330 Cham

Program

17:00 Welcome

17:10 Presentation Dr. Christian Wilk and Fabio Moura

17:50 Open discussion

18:00 Apéro

Speakers

Attorney at Law (BR) Fabio Moura, HütteleLAW AG

Dr. Christian Wilk, Deon Digital AG

Application

Application required until March 22, 2019 by e-mail to:
event@huettelaw.ch.

Limited seats available.
Participation is free of charge.

Digital contracts for smarter business

Dr. Christian Wilk

With the help of digital contracting technology, cross-company business processes can be defined and executed. Digital contracts define as a kind of behavioural protocol "who is allowed to do what under what condition". The basis for Digital Contracts is a distributed database ("blockchain"), the technology being database agnostic (e.g., Ethereum, Hyperledger Fabric, Corda).

Legal services for blockchain projects

Fabio Moura

With phrases like "blockchain can change the world" or "blockchain is even bigger than the internet", blockchain projects are becoming more and more popular and continuously reach new boundaries. As a first dimension to be considered planning a blockchain project is often the technology itself with great concern for the financial aspects and marketing strategies. It can be argued that lawyers hardly ever play a central role in blockchain projects and their participation is often limited to a more responsive role. However, the major impacts due to regulations and the importance of contracts in this field can not be underestimated. In a short presentation we intend to broaden this perspective and look over the several, at least 9 (nine), kinds of services that lawyers and legal consultants can and shall provide to blockchain projects and that are to a great extent essential to their success and even to their very survival.

Your Legallounge.ch

Contact

HütteLAW AG

Alte Steinhauserstrasse 1

6330 Cham

+41 41 729 36 36

event@huettelaw.ch